

Wipe out Capitalism everyday

“From a certain point onward, there is no turning back. That is the point that much be reached.” – Franz Kafka

Capitalism is on the move! In last years it destroyed most of the things people were fighting for last centuries. We should try to stop it before it is too late.

Each year there are mass actions against the G8 summits as they also are being organized this year against the G8 summit in Heiligendamm, Germany.

But only blocking these summits is not enough. The G8 and the other big players (corporations, banks, etc.) are the ones extorting the whole world for their own gain. This fight should not only be against big institutions or once a year during these summits, rather it is the entire capitalist structure of control and exploitation that should be overthrown.

Every day people live their life without thinking about what consequences their behaviour might have on others. Day by day oil companies dump their raw oil into the ocean. Every day big banks extort countries because of loans given out to these countries during dictatorial rule. And every day is a day that we – activists of all countries – could and should bring about change!

Already people have organized themselves and wage war against capitalism and neo-liberalism on a daily basis.

In the last few years we have seen an increase in repression. New anti-terrorism laws, raids on info café's and people homes, CCTV, harsh immigration regulations, etc.

Martin Luther King once said, "those who make peaceful revolution impossible, only make violent revolution inevitable". We will not go as far suggesting that violence should be the answer. Rather we are calling to everyone for non violent actions. Remember that we do not fight people but only the institution, the empire of Growth and Greed.

This resistance is only that successful because people demand change, both in their own countries and on the world scale in solidarity with other people. Also they are not scared of using radical approaches and use a 'diversity of tactics'–approach.

The time for debate is over. We should fight! We are at war with capitalism, hierarchy and injustice. The capitalist machine must be shut down!

Direct action should be our weapon. This method is not about radicalism, but about inventiveness and usefulness. It is not wrong to destroy property, if it is only aimed at inanimate objects. It is wrong to see something unjust and not try to do something about it. So let's hit those bastards where it hurts them the most: property!

Property destruction is no violence at all. Is it violent to destroy weapons, which themselves kills hundreds and hundreds of people? Is it violent to destroy machines which themselves destroy acres and acres of rainforests? There is no violence in taking these murderous things away. On the contrary: it prevents violence. It is just a step beyond civil disobedience.

So hereby we will ask you, readers of this call out, to do the same: do not wait for international gatherings, summits or whatever. Get on the street and overthrow the capitalist system now!

Go out in the night, dress in black and use that monkey wrench to do what...? Well we should remember that nothing good has ever come into this world without struggle.

The possibilities are endless, use your imagination and your possibilities will only be limited by your spirit and passion.

Give rise to change and bring about a revolution!
