

The right to the city

debat over de stad en
politieke bewegingen /
debate on the city and political movements

Vrijdag
10 April
/
Friday
April 10th

't Blijvertje, Derde
Oosterparkstraat 64h
Amsterdam

The right to the city

debat over de stad en
politieke bewegingen /
debate on the city and
political movements

Vrijdag
10 April
/
Friday
April 10th

't Blijvertje, Derde
Oosterparkstraat 64h
Amsterdam

Het recht op de stad - The right to the city

Vrijdag 10 April, 14u00 - Friday April 10th, 14h00
't Blijvertje, Derde Oosterparkstraat 64h, Amsterdam

'The right to the city' - what could this mean? Surely it means that people have access to basic needs like housing, clean water, and safety. But obviously the right to the city will not mean the same thing for all people and for all times. That is why we want to organize an event where we can show and debate the diversity of struggles against urban injustices. We want to get inspired by and learn from experiences of movements in the past and around the globe.

Program:

 14.00 brunch (vegan)
 14.00-? Live graffiti on the control state, commercialization of public space and gentrification
 14.00-15.30. Debate on squatting. How to deal with the new developments? Rotterdam squatters on their petition against the prohibition of squatting; new ways of detecting empty houses by the SPOK; the new network 'binnenstad'.
 16.00-17.00 Prof. Mark Purcell (Washington University) presents out of his book Recapturing Democracy: Neoliberalization and the Struggle for Alternative Urban Futures.
 17.00-17.30 The right to the city in Amsterdam. Presentation on the change towards neoliberal policies in Amsterdam and how to react.
 18.00 Exhibition: axes in Amsterdam
 18.30-20.00 A billion squatters: presentations and debate. An overview of urban struggles around the world with a special focus on Turkey and Latin America.
 20.00 Voku
 21.00 Party! With live music by Son 5, inspiring clips and mojitos

Het recht op de stad - The right to the city

Vrijdag 10 April, 14u00 - Friday April 10th, 14h00
't Blijvertje, Derde Oosterparkstraat 64h, Amsterdam

'The right to the city' - what could this mean? Surely it means that people have access to basic needs like housing, clean water, and safety. But obviously the right to the city will not mean the same thing for all people and for all times. That is why we want to organize an event where we can show and debate the diversity of struggles against urban injustices. We want to get inspired by and learn from experiences of movements in the past and around the globe.

Program:

 14.00 brunch (vegan)
 14.00-? Live graffiti on the control state, commercialization of public space and gentrification
 14.00-15.30. Debate on squatting. How to deal with the new developments? Rotterdam squatters on their petition against the prohibition of squatting; new ways of detecting empty houses by the SPOK; the new network 'binnenstad'.
 16.00-17.00 Prof. Mark Purcell (Washington University) presents out of his book Recapturing Democracy: Neoliberalization and the Struggle for Alternative Urban Futures.
 17.00-17.30 The right to the city in Amsterdam. Presentation on the change towards neoliberal policies in Amsterdam and how to react.
 18.00 Exhibition: axes in Amsterdam
 18.30-20.00 A billion squatters: presentations and debate. An overview of urban struggles around the world with a special focus on Turkey and Latin America.
 20.00 Voku
 21.00 Party! With live music by Son 5, inspiring clips and mojitos